

Doc No.: P1136
Date: 2018-06-21
Group: JTC1/SC22/WG21
Reply to: hsutter@microsoft.com

2018-09 Bellevue ad-hoc meeting information

There will be an ad-hoc gathering for WG21 experts interested making progress on modules and executors between WG21 meetings. The meeting is being hosted by Microsoft near the CppCon 2018 location in the four days (Thu-Sun) preceding CppCon.

Limited agenda, restricted to WG21 experts. The purpose is to help the proposal authors make progress on refining the proposals in preparation for San Diego. This meeting is not open to CppCon attendees unless they are already active participants in WG21.

Dates and locations. We are meeting for two days each on modules and executors. The dates were selected based on preferences polled in Rapperswil. Note that we can comfortably accommodate 30 people, except for the first day when the room seats 20 and would be crowded for 30.

- Modules, Thu-Fri (chaired by Ville Voutilainen)
  - 2018-09-20, room Lincoln Square/26004 “McCormick” (26th floor)
  - 2018-09-21, room Bravern 2/12130 “Cherry” (12th floor)
- Executors, Sat-Sun (chaired by Olivier Giroux)
  - 2018-09-22, room Bravern 2/12130 “Cherry” (12th floor)
  - 2018-09-23, room Bravern 2/12130 “Cherry” (12th floor)

The street addresses for the two buildings are:

- Lincoln Square: 700 Bellevue Way NE, Bellevue, WA (beside several CppCon hotels)
- Bravern 2: 11155 NE 8th St, Bellevue, WA (on the same block as CppCon itself)

Hotel reservations. Please use the CppCon hotels. All participants are assumed to be also attending CppCon and so should have the hotel room block information via the CppCon registrar. If you are attending these meetings but not attending CppCon, (a) what is wrong with you, and (b) there are many hotels in short walking distance where you can make your own arrangements.

Travel and transportation. Seattle is served by Sea-Tac Airport \(SEA\) which offers many direct domestic and international flights on major airlines. Taxis are available at the airport and a ride to the meeting location costs about US$80 including tip; you can also reach the area by public transit with a direct bus without changes.

Meals and refreshments. The hosts will provide a variety of beverages for morning and afternoon breaks. Attendees will be responsible for their own meals, which can be taken in many restaurants in walking distance.

Weather. Seattle average weather in September is perfect. Don't tell.